Researchers at the Northwestern University are investigating treatments for adults of African ancestry with asthma:

Best African American Response to Asthma Drugs (BARD) Trial

To participate in this research study, you must:

- Be at least 18 years of age
- Have at least one grandparent who is of African descent
- Be on asthma controller medication

What we will ask you to do:

1. Come to study visits over the course of about 16 months
2. Do tests such as breathing tests and give blood, urine and sputum/phlegm samples.
3. Do home breathing tests between research study visits and fill out diaries and questionnaires about your asthma
4. Take study medications daily

Eligible participants who join the research study will be compensated for their time and will be provided asthma study medications at no cost.
